Twenty-five years ago, in 1955, Perry High School opened its doors to area students. That very year, PHS students, teachers, and administrators faced perhaps the greatest challenge in the school's history: the establishment of traditions, standards, and precedents of a quality that have made our school one of the finest in the state. And in all the years since then, Perry High students and faculty have strived to maintain that quality in everything they've set out to accomplish.

The 1980-81 school year has been hailed as the Year of the Panther because it is a good representative of that ideal. In this year, we remembered and honored those who came before us.

To make the path we travel during our high school years a little smoother, a little straighter; we accepted the challenge of keeping Perry traditions and high standards alive; and we passed our legacy on, and with it, the same responsibility we inherited. Trends have changed, but Perry spirit and pride have endured, and we can remember the Year of the Panther as proudly as we have remembered every year of our school's history; because, through our triumph and failure, joy and tribulation, we've helped to shape the character of the great school. There will never be another year quite like the Year of the Panther!

SENIORS

They are still young men and women, but they are at the very threshold of adulthood. They are the established leaders of the school, yet they still have so very much to learn. They are ready to use the knowledge which Perry High School has given them to face challenges and accomplish goals in life. They are starting in today, ready to step into tomorrow. They are the senior class!

Those who have shown outstanding leadership qualities and readiness to accept the challenges of the adult world are honored by being selected as senior class officers. 1980-81 senior class officers are: President, Jim Weisburn; Vice-President, Sherry Cairns; Secretary, Brenda Schuring; Treasurer, Vicki Drakulich, and Historian, Kelli Baird.

he death of a classmate is a saddening, sobering experience, for one inks not only of the loss of his comrade but also of his own life and how nuch he has accomplished.

ric Swallow died on January 1, 1981, and will be sadly missed by his amily, friends, and teachers. Even people who did not know Eric were nocked that one so young and full of promise should be unspared by eath.

ric's life, short though it was, was full of meaning and purpose. The nortness of that life will be mourned, but the fulfillment and happiness of will be remembered joyously by those who knew him. His words, his eeds, his thousand kindnesses will live on in those who will keep his nemory alive.

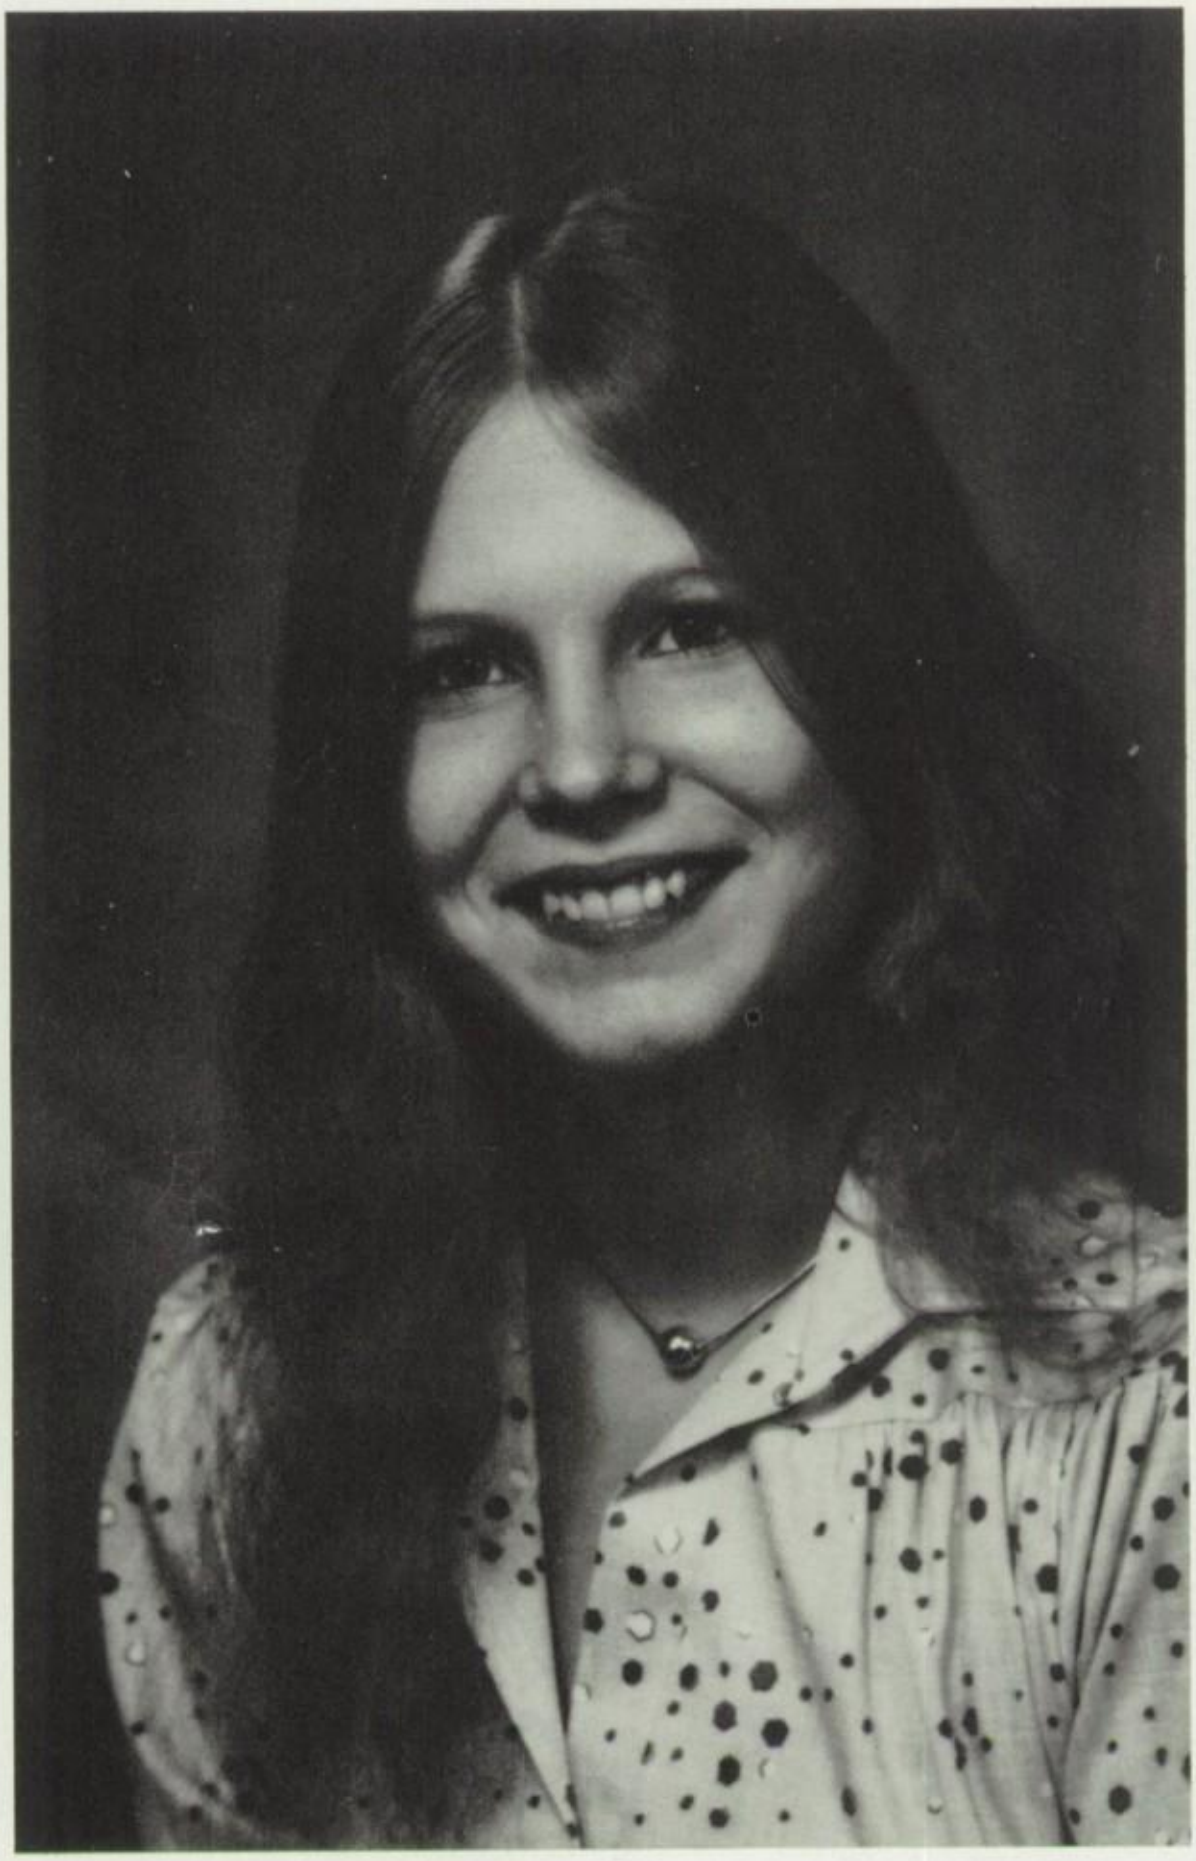
Can-Do Award



The Perry Women's Club presents the Can-Do Award each year to the Perry student who has best met — and overcome — a challenge. For some, challenges consist of remaining brave in the face of tragedy, of tackling each problem determinedly, and of simply living day to day and helping others to do the same.

In both her personal life and in her work with the aged at the Eventide Nursing Home, Kelly Smith faces these challenges daily. Her competence and cheerfulness are as welcome as sunshine in the Home, and her care and concern often makes the twilight years of its occupants a little brighter. This, in itself, is quite an achievement.

And if drive and determined effort can guarantee success in life, Kelly Smith is bound to succeed in life. We do not always see the silent workers, but they are the backbone of our society. Kelly Smith is a kind, considerate person who not only faces each challenge of life bravely, but helps others to do the same. Kelly is this year's deserving Can-Do Award winner.

Junior Class Officers

The main objectives of the junior class are to set an example of leadership for the sophomore class to follow, to participate in class projects and promote class spirit, and assist in any project to improve the school or the community.

The junior class officers are, by far, the most important members of the junior class. Their duties, among other important functions, include organizing various fund-raising projects during the year, and financing and organizing the junior-senior prom, and they perform these duties well. Junior class officers are: Scott Kozinski, President (not pictured); Melissa Dimmerling, Secretary; Melinda Dimmerling, Vice President; Vicki Catazaro, Historian; Brenda Skogen, Treasurer.

It is never easy to adjust to new, unfamiliar surroundings, but this year's sophomore class accustomed themselves to Perry's routine so well that it would be difficult to imagine the school without them. With true class spirit, they began class fund-raising projects soon after school started, and manifested class enthusiasm at pep rallies, football games, and various other gatherings.

Of course, the sophs had a little help. The officers they elected at the beginning of the year have been organizing the class projects, promoting class spirit, and encouraging the class every step of the way. 1980-81 Sophomore class officers are: Dave Marcelli, Vice President; Karen Thatcher, Treasurer; Karen Jolliff, Secretary; Mark Demaree, President; and Steve Barr, Historian.

In Memoriam
Laura Cameron Hall

" . . . that best portion of a good man's life,
His little, nameless, unremembered acts
Of kindness and of love . . . "
-William Wordsworth

"Good morning. Perry High School. May I help you?"
"Good morning. May I help you?"
"May I help you?" "May I help you?"

To help: to aid or assist.
To aid in running an orderly and effective office
To teach young office students to assist in an office
To greet entrants with a friendly smile
To organize for a smooth school opening
To effect a smoothly-run and memorable graduation
To serve Perry principals in dealing with the many details and duties of office
To assist Perry students and staff in solving any and all problems.
To be a friend to fellow workers
To live as God intends one to live

Laura C. Hall
Secretary to Perry principals for sixteen years
Friend of staff and students
Helper to all

Flag Girls

Prom

The 1980 prom was held on May 23, 1980 in the McKinley room at the Canton Civic Center. The junior-senior prom is sponsored by the junior class, who hold money-making projects throughout the year to organize and finance the prom. Last year's theme song, "We've Only Just Begun," indicated that the end of the senior year is not just the end of high school — it is the beginning of life.

The Boyfriend

"Won't you Charleston with me . . . "

"I could be happy with you."

"You are my lucky star . . . "

"The Boyfriend" was an extraordinary combination of song, dance, and dashing romance spiced with humor.

Set in the rural area of France during the Roaring Twenties, this captivating saga delves into the lives of girls at an exclusive boarding school. Two girls in particular are focused on: Macy and Polly. Polly, a sweet, shy young girl is involved in the eternal search of every teenage girl; looking for "a boyfriend." Macy and her fellow females, with the aid of their partners, show her the way through a series of song and dance routines.

Polly finally meets her one true love, Tony, a delivery boy who is the runaway son of the rich Lord and Lady Brockhurst, and that old cliche comes into play: " . . . and they lived happily ever after."

"But . . . Tony . . . "

"Remember, my dear, we're BRITISH."

"It's never too late to fall in love . . . "

"All I want is a room in Bloomsbury . . . "

"And they lived happily ever after"
